

Hi there! I'm Hanna, a software engineer based in New York, USA. I have a burning passion for building things that live on the Internet. I develop exceptional websites and web apps that provide intuitive, pixel-perfect user interfaces with efficient and modern backends.

I love structure and order and I also stand for quality. I enjoy working in teams as it helps me to learn faster. I can spend hours fixing small details and optimizing application functionality. My skills are broad: from UX to design, front end to back end development.

I'll give my 100 percent of dedication towards the company. And my hard and honest work will make me an asset of your company.
